

RIGHT RELATIONS PROTOCOL

Common Good Education's integration and fusion process consciously accelerates human development to further the right relations between people, nations, and the life of our entire planet. The Right Relations Protocol helps groups energize new thinking and activity based on a growing identification with the common good.

Individual

We understand and adapt our desires, feelings, and thoughts to serve the whole, becoming whole.

The One Humanity

We recognize our subjective spiritual Self, relating each to Humanity through increasingly spontaneous service for the common good.

The Planet

We choose to think and act to improve the lives of others and the world because we recognize ourselves as an integral part of a greater whole.

1 RECOGNIZE THE MANY PATHS TO ONE TRUTH

Each of us is on some stage of the path leading to the realization that we are each a part of a greater whole.

In this moment, how can I help others acknowledge and express their higher, spiritual nature (and, in so doing, nurture my own divine expression)?

PRACTICE DETACHMENT

Spiritual detachment helps turn our attention away from the forms symbolizing our identity – things we own, our beliefs, our likes and dislikes – enabling us to see the unifying aspect linking each to all.

What actions can I take to strengthen someone else's sense of unity, motivating a shift in their awareness that guides them toward more cooperative behavior that benefits the common good?

3

ASSESS INTENT

A more selfless rather than selfish intent increases our capacity to create workable solutions beneficial to all.

What's motivating me to act right now, and to what extent do I understand the needs of others to ensure that my response furthers the common good rather than just my own or a specific group's interests?

BUILD BRIDGES

Solutions based on these principles offer us and others a way forward (and here's the key!) that is self-initiated and mutually affirms our part in a greater whole.
