

Common Good Roadmap

**To accurately identify your starting position on the roadmap requires self-awareness and humility without a self-defeating tendency. Most of us will find ourselves within the 3-5 range for long periods of our lives. However, our concern often rapidly expands in response to recognized world need (world crises, human tragedies, etc.) and contracts at times of personal crisis or stress and strain, lowering our concern for others. Choose a position that is more or less consistent for you.*
